Greetings from a weary Iver Heath Junior School. It's been a great week here at school but it feels like it has been a very long week. The children have been amazing, as usual, but they are all pretty exhausted. Getting back into the routine of waking up early and being ready for school and being an active learner in every lesson all take getting used to again and takes their toll on little minds and bodies. But, during my travels around the school this week, I have once again been filled with pride in our wonderful school community. I must especially praise year 3, they are settling in so well; they are working hard; they are smiling; they are delightful and they genuinely seem to be enjoying themselves.

Huge CONGRATULATIONS to class 3H, who have become our first class with 100% attendance this year. Parents of children in 3H, look out for a notice in their homework diaries for when they will be having their mufti day.

It was so good to see so many people attending our Welcome meetings this week. These are important meetings as information regarding procedures does change from year-to-year and its nice for the team to get to meet parents and carers for the first time. For those who were unable to make it, the PowerPoint Presentations that were used are available on the school website.

Go to the Key Info tab and select the final option on the dropdown menu Welcome Meetings.

As explained at the Welcome Meetings, the school photographer will be visiting us next Monday (15th Sept) to take individual photographs of all of the children as well as photographs of siblings. The children will be bringing home a leaflet for you to register and purchase your photographs through, so please look out for this. Although the children have looked amazing coming to school in their PE kits, children in classes 5H, 4I, 3I and 6I, should bring in their uniform to change into for the photos please. We have sent out a text, but please feel free to share this information in your year group WhatsApp chats in case anyone has somehow missed this information.

Many of our year 6 children have had a taxing week taking their Secondary Transfer Tests. Some have also been preparing their speeches and letters as prospective House Captains and prefects. House Captains are an important part of the character of Iver Heath Junior School. They are role-models for younger pupils and they have many responsibilities. One such responsibility is showing around prospective new parents. Our House Captains never fail to be congratulated on their confidence and knowledge of the school. The whole school will be voting for new House captains for this academic year on Thursday so I will announce our new House Captains in next Friday's newsletter. Good luck to all candidates.

Have a great, restful, weekend.
